Pippins Bishop had a whole lot to d with the game yetserday afternoon, an his performance surprised his most arder admirers.

Sometimes Pippins plays good ball, an this was one of the times. He not onk pitched well, but he nelded well, and actually made two safe hits. This jus goes to prove the uncetrainty of base-ball for when Pippins goes in to pitch nobod expects him to hit anything, save, perhaps a batter once in awhile

Not only did he pitch and hit well, however, but he fielded excellently, and had four assists and two put-outs to his

Pippins is improving, and it is hoped he will continue to do so.

The game was a sort of catch-as-catch

The game was a sort of catch-as-catch-can affair, and was one of the snappiest of the season. Indeed, so snappy was it that in the third inning Catcher Surder was put out of the game and grounds, simply because he "sassed" Umpire Mol-lane. And there was no telling which team would win, for the score kept going along in "now you see it and now you don't sort of affair, and it was not until Murphy was thrown out at the plate in the ninth inning that it was a sure thing for Richmond. for Richmond.

Tony Muliane may have been a rood pitcher years ago, but he will never be a satisfactory umpire. His work pleases no one. He has the players of both teams kicking all the time, and he is guyed by the rooters. He is honest, but he does not conduct the game with that smoothness and that positive manner that is necessary for success. His decisions are easily directed by a hint from a player. For instance, in the game yesterday Dolan was called out for cutting third base in running in when Pranmiller was caught at first. It was a physical impossibility first. It was a physical impossibility Mullane to have seen the cut by Dofor Muliane to have seen the cut by 10-lan, but a suggestion was given him, and be called him out. Dollan did cut the base all right, but Muliane did not see him, and he has no right to render decisions upon plays that he does not see This is only given as a sample of how Muliane is guided in his conduct of a game. Doshould not have cut the base.

The courier who came in with the news of the slaughter declares that he saw a desparate fight at a point 40 miles southeast of Artiz and that he has positive evidence that J. F. Remley, a merchant of Hiermosilic and Emilier, a photographer in his employ, were among the killed.

Remley was one of the best known Americans in Sonora.

General Torres, commander of the first military zone, which includes Sonora, Sinaloa and lower California, who was in the field with the Tweifth Regiment, is reported among the stain.

No information is obtainable as vet of the number of fighting Indians under arms, but if the outbreak is of the proportions of the war ended in 1897, the number may be placed at between three and four thousand.

This outbreak is a surprise to the State and army officials, it is impossible to secure accurate figures as to the total number killed to date, but the estimate at fifty on each side is not considered excessive.
